Sitting Bull and Men Killed.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—At 9 o'clock tonight Assistant Adjutant General Corbin of General Miles' staff received an official dispatch from St. Paul saying that Sitting Bull and five of his men, and seven of the Indian police had been killed in a fight to-day following an attempt by the police to arrest Sitting Bull.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Up to noon today no further news had been received at army headquarters regarding the situation in the northwest. Speaking of the death of Sitting Bull, Adjutant General Corbin said to an Associated Press reporter that it was most probably the beginning of the end of the trouble. He said that as Sitting Bull was dead, the Indians who had great faith in him as a medicine man would come in to the agency within the next two or three days, when they hear of his death. If they do not, General Brooke has things in shape to make short work of them. They are penned up in the Bad Lands where nobody lives and where they can do no damage.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 16.—The Journal's Bismarck (N. D.) special says:
The country roundabout is terribly wrought up over the killing of Sitting Bull. Instead of creating an easy feeling, it has aroused much apprehension. It is feared that many families of settlers will fall victims to the vengeance of Sitting Bull's followers.
Sitting Bull's son, who was killed,
was only twelve years old. An enterprising Bismarck merchant this morning offered $1,000 for Sitting Bull's hide.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Secretary
Proctor to-day laid before the Cabinet
all the information on the Indian trouble in his possession.

The Irish Campaign.

By Cable and Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Dec. 16.—A committee of Irish-Americans to arrange for a reception to the Irish envoys to-morrow night passed a resolution recognizing Parnell's past services, eulogizing
O'Brien's position, and seeking for a reconciliation of the Irish factions.

DUBLIN, Dec. 16.—The Irish Times
says the Pope is considering an appeal sent to him by the Catholics of London praying his Holiness to pronounce against the Catholics supporting Parnell
because of the latter's wickedness.

At Ballynabill to-day, while meetings of the two factions were being held near together, the Parnellites attacked the opposition. The McCar-thyites repelled them after a spirited defense, led by Davitt, Dr. Tanner and a number of priests. Many persons on both sides were injured. Parnell presided over the meeting of his supporters.

Upon the application of counsel in behalf of Parnell the Court granted an injunction restraining the publication of the suppressed United Ireland.

Not a Bad Failure.

By Associated Press.
CLEVELAND (Pa.), Dec. 16.—The County Bank closed its doors this morning. The depositors are made safe by mortgages on real estate for three times the amount of the deposits. The owner of the bank is ex-
United States Senator W. A. Wallace.
The liabilities are $350,000; assets, $650,000.

The excessive tightness of the money market was the cause of the failure. The Clearfield County Bank was a private concern. It was several years ago a State institution, but is now doing a collecting and exchange business. The depositors have been secured by a judgment bond and a mortgage on valuable coal lands in this county. The deposits aggregate $475,000. The security is double the indebtedness. The entire indebtedness of Senator Wallace is nearly $400,000, and his assets are $600,000.

Wrestling Match.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Jimmy Murray of New York and Patsy Hogan,
the "St. Paul Kid," light weights, to fight with skin gloves to a finish at Rockaway beach early this morning.
Hogan won the match in 13 rounds.

The Diggers Dancing.

Special to GAZETTE.

CHICO (Cal.), Dec. 16.—The Indians of the rancheries near Chico have commenced the messiah or ghost dance. Remnants of all the tribes still in Butte county are participating.
A dance is held each year about January, but was hastened this year by a strange Indian who came in from Nevada and told the tribes here that their brethren in the East were dancing and that the messiah would surely come. Some three hundred participants will dance.

The Case Postponed.

By Cable and Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Dec. 16.—At Nenagh, County Tipperary, to-day, the case of Patrick J. O'Brien, member of Parliament, and Michael O'Brien Dalton, charged with assaulting the police at the time of the conspiracy trials at Tipperary, was called. One of the solicitors for the defense being ill, the court granted a postponement. The accused were co-defendants with William O'Brien, John Dillon and others
in the Tipperary conspiracy case.

All Creditors Secured.

By Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 16.—The Journal's special from Huron, S. D., says the Hume National Bank suspended this morning because of the withdrawal of $60,000 of deposits. The bank will officially declare that provision has been made to pay every dollar due the creditors and depositors.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Gould to-day expressed himself as very well satisfied with what was accomplished at the meeting of railroad Presidents yesterday. He is confident the plan adopted will be successful and result in great advantages to the railways and the public.

State, has discovered process by which aluminum can be made from kaolin
at a cost of $2.50 per ton.

A Good Entertainment Coming to Please the People.
"Tom's Vacation" is the title
given the new medley sketch to be presented by the Royce & Lansing Company at McKissick's Opera House to-morrow night. The company is a carefully selected one, and each member has an excellent opportunity for the display of their individual accomplishments. The play abounds with the latest songs, dances, medleys, musical specialties and funny characters.

Lizzie Royce sings the beautiful new ballad by James Whitcomb Riley,
"There, Little Girl, Don't Cry."
Ray L. Royce introduced a number of funny songs and characters.
Charles Ho-witz, the talented comedian and singer, has some very catchy songs of his own composition.
Calla Barbour, the new subretrie of the company, is said to be very funny
as "Kitty Perkins," the rustic beauty,
and has some very pleasing dancing specialties.

Unique Dinning
A Western exchange tells its readers
how to mind their "P's" in this paragraph: "Persons patronizing papers should pay promptly for the pecuniary prospects of the press have a peculiar power in pushing forward public prosperity. If the prin- is paid promptly and his pocketbook kept plenteous he promptly pays patrons, he puts his pen to his paper in yance; his paragraphs are more pointed; he paints
his pictures of passing events in more pleasing colors, and the perusal of his paper is a pleasure to the people."

sophy in some place where all persons

Henry Clews on Finance.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Henry Clews
has addressed an open letter to the Secretary of the Treasury, in which he makes one or two novel suggestions about silver legislation. Clews says Congress should amend the present silver law by inserting a clause giving the Secretary of Treasury authority to change at his discretion the periods of the purchase of silver. At present the law provides for 4,500,000 ounces each month, which is absolute. In place of this, to provide for the present
money crisis, substitute at the Secretary's discretion, authority to purchase
double that amount in December, equal to 9,000,000 ounces, and the same for January, February and March and then suspend the purchase entirely for the months of April, May, June and July. What is important for the people and country to know for a certainty, is that they can rely upon the present law being permanent and not subject to the changes or convenience of every Congress. When the present law has been in existence
a year it will bring out new silver money, aggregating in an amount of about $60,000,000, and each year thereafter an equal sum. In ten years from the date of the passage of the act the amount of this money will be about $600,000,000.

Mr. Clews thinks this annual increase will be ample for that class of money, and it would be unwise to increase it. It certainly will be sufficient if Congress will also pass at an early date the Sherman bill, which provides for National Bank bills to be issued up to the par value of the United States bonds. This will increase that class of money about $15,000,000.

Fatal Powder Explosions.

Shortly after noon to-day an explosion occurred at the works of the Ohio Powder Company, five miles north of this city. The mill was blown up, killing two employees, James Kerr and William Lewis. Several others were injured, but not seriously. The building was completely wrecked.

A Warm Senatorial Contest.

By Associated Press.

BOISE CITY, Dec. 16.—Balloting for United States Senators has begun in each house of the Legislature. There are indications of a bitter contest between the three candidates from northern Idaho and the two from the south.

The first ballot resulted: Stevenson (Dem.) 10, DuBois 17, McConnell 9, Shoup 8, and Claggett 7. Two members did not vote.

The Stock Market.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—At the opening of the stock market prices in most cases were lower than last night's figures. St. Paul was down 1½, Northern Pacific preferred 1, Burlington 1½, and Rock Island 1½. Before noon Union Pacific showed a decline of 2½ per cent. There was a better feeling about noon, but no recovery of importance.

ance is still a mystery, the officers say there is no evidence of foul play on body else. His son, Henry Koester,

PORTLAND (Or.), Dec. 16.—The chief

the executive committee of the Union

Congressional Matters.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—In the course of the morning business Senator Hoar
read a letter from John J. Davenport, who made a vigorous denial of the charges preferred against his conduct as Chief Supervisor of Elections, and professed a willingness to appear before the Senate Committee to answer
the charges.

The pending business was the consideration of the Dolph resolution providing for an investigation as to whether the right to vote was denied or abridged in any State, with the Vest amendment extending the investigation to an inquiry as to whether by State legislation any man is denied the right to work on public works by reason of his color.

Morgan, in opposing the resolution,
called attention to the Fifteenth Amendment of the Constitution, criticizing it, and contending that the foundation of the country would be much better had the Government
been content with the Fifteenth Amendment.

Pasco to-day introduced an amendment to the pending Election bill. It provides that it shall be unlawful for any person to pay or promise to pay money to induce persons to vote or refrain from voting; to promise employment as a Supervisor of Election to influence a vote; to receive money or an appointment with that object, or to endeavor to influence their employees in their voting, on a penalty of $500 fine and imprisonment for one year. It requires the officers of a political organization to file with the Clerk of the House itemized statements of the receipts and expenditures of political funds, and the same statements are required of candidates for representatives under like penalties.

HOUSE.

The House Coinage Committee today elected Wickham of Ohio Chairman to succeed Conger, who resigned
to become Minister to Brazil.

A bill was introduced by Carter of Ohio (ordered favorably reported) providing that gold coin may be exchanged for gold bars, but gives the Director of the Mint power to use his discretion to impose for such exchange
a charge which shall equal the cost of manufacturing them.

Mills of Texas offered a concurrent resolution providing for a holiday recess from December 22d to January 3, 1891. Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Dunnell of Minnesota called up the Apportionment bill and briefly explained its provisions. There was a diversity of opinion among the members of the House as to whether the presentation should stand or whether it should be increased. It was finally determined by the committee to accept 356 as the proper number. After ineffectual efforts to secure an agreement as to a limitation of debate, Dunnell gave notice that he would call the previous question at 5 o'clock
this afternoon.

World's Fair.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—It is expected the President will issue his World's Fair proclamation late to-day or to-morrow. It is understood the delay was simply that the necessary formalities may be carried out.

Chairman Chandler of the World's Fair Committee said: "The situation is constantly improving, and we may,
when we get ready to report, find very little to recommend. Our report will probably be submitted soon after the President's proclamation is issued."

Let the Challenge Be Accepted.

The challenge offered by Senator Gorman of Maryland in the Senate recently is one which cannot be ignored. At the intimation by Senator Hoar that it was his purpose to ask for an early vote on the Federal Election bill, the Maryland boss announced that it was the Democratic purpose to prevent a vote on the bill at an early or at any day during the session. It was a distinct announcement that the Democratic policy is to be one of obstruction, and the utterance of a defiance to the Republicans. The challenge must be accepted and the issue met, or the humiliating admission must be made that the Democratic minority have assumed control of the Senate. Had the Democrats wished to fairly discuss the bill, this privilege should have been accorded them, but through their spokesman they declare that obstruction rather than discussion is their policy. There is but one course open to the Republicans, and that is to bring the bill to a vote at once. If it be necessary to change the rules to secure this end, change them, but let the vote be had, and let it be understood at once and for all that the United States Senate is not to be controlled by a factious minority.

A CHARMING calendar for the coming year has been sent us by Lee & Shepard of Boston. It is a gem of artistic beauty, tied together with a white silken cord and hung from a silver chain. The months, as illustrated by beautiful children with the umbrellas, in the possession of which children so delight, is a charming conceit. Nothing more dainty, more artistically beautiful, was ever conceived of by even these publishers, who excel in all such work. Let those who are looking for something that is perfect put "All Around the Year" at the head of their list.

A BILL has been introduced in Congress providing that the purchase of silver bullion shall be restricted to that produced from American mines. It is strange that fifteen years of discussion, experience and suffering have been necessary to show our law-makers what should have been apparent from the first, that it was far better to take care of the American market than to attempt to corner the silver market of the whole earth.

TWENTY-THREE years ago our people were buying English steel rails and paying $150 in gold per ton for them. A year ago they could purchase better rails in America manufactured for $25. Facts like these please American workmen, but they are like a blow in the face to Free Traders.

THE Democratic leaders and organs are absolutely sure that if the federal election bill is passed, "it will forever smash and wind up the Republican party." Yet they are making the most frantic endeavors to prevent its passage. It is a marvellous case of disinterestedness.

Who says Grover Cleveland and David B. Hill are not the closest friends? Grover is using all his influence to get David elected United States Senator.

THE Farmers' Alliance Convention at Ocala, Fla., seems to have been a good deal more concerned about politics than about agriculture.

THE new bill agreed upon for the restriction of immigration is in the line of a stringent contract labor law. It ought to be passed at once.

WISCONSIN Democrats are undecided whether to lay the Indian uprising to the Bennett school law or the McKinley Tariff bill.

It is understood that Kilgore of Texas has declined all overtures from football teams, and will remain in Congress.

Of course there are plenty of weak sentimentalists who lay the blame in the Parnell case on the woman.

WOES OF RICH MEN.

They Can Be Neither Politicians, Nor Authors, Nor Statesmen.

"The very rich people are to be pitied," said a well-known capitalist and club-man the other day to a New York correspondent of the Kansas City Star. "When a man once gets a large fortune there is no enjoyment, worth striving for, for if he tries and succeeds in winning it the world says that his conflict was made easy by his wealth. If he has political aspirations he is accused of purchasing votes and favor. If he wants to shine in literature it is declared that he hires an author to write his books. He is not permitted to have an honest love for art, for when he becomes a collector it is said that he buys pictures by the yard and statues as though they were cheese. John Jacob Astor, who died recently, could have been Minister to England under President Hayes, but he refused the position because he knew the Nation would declare that it was given in reward for his contribution to the campaign fund. In his whole life John Jacob Astor was nothing more than a real-estate agent on a large scale, and his end was accomplished by gout, the bane of all rich men. Gout is the inevitable result of affluence. It is good food and what is now called good cooking that produces gout, and the man of large means is sure to have both. Mr. Astor was what might be called a quiet liver; that is, he was perfectly temperate in his appetites. Besides this he was an extraordinary young man and began his life of luxury with a constitution of iron. But the steady, unbroken comforts and pleasures of his existence did their work and he died at sixty-eight, looking as hearty as any man in New York. It has sometimes been observed that gout is a fashionable ailment, but in reality it is a prevalent and deadly disease among the luxurious men in New York, and nearly every club window has a big red-faced man in it who is haunted by the realization that he may be called to his reckoning at any moment. If these men had ever been tempted into the fields of endeavor and taken pot-luck with the energetic toilers of the earth they would be all right, but the smooth elegance of doing nothing that they have indulged in together with the wines and spiced delicacies that have formed their sustenance, has put them into pretty much the same physical condition as those geese that we make into pates de foies gras. I advise the poor not to envy the rich. I will wager that they are as unhappy as anybody. The richer they are the more unhappy they are. They can not go into the struggle for fame, they must resist the motives of every new acquisition, and they invariably have the gout. You will not find a more sorrowful looking set of men in New York than the ones that belong to my club. And they are the very richest citizens we have. In fact, I am a pretty sad dog myself."

ANOTHER TIE BROKEN.

Algeron Had Been Given Many Privileges, But He Was Ungrateful.

"I am convinced, Algeron, that there is no such thing as gratitude in the world. I never saw a man who thought of a young man who calls on a stranger for the first time and never hears a familiar topic of conversation for an hour, says the St. Paul Pioneer-Press. "And how am I at fault?" said the young man, as interested as a hen with one chicken and that one a duck. "Don't trifle with me, Alger; you see I still forget that I should be firm. I must ask you some questions, and the fair maiden looked as sober as a justice of the peace when he discovers that he has left his tobacco-box at home. "Have I not allowed you to part your name in the middle?" "You have," responded the youth, with a painted, green-apple-pie expression. "You have," answered the youth, blushing as if he had dropped a poker chip in the parlor. "And 'Annie Rooney'?" "Yes," was the almost inaudible murmur. "Yes, Alger, I have, and do you appreciate it? Not a particle. You men never appreciate us poor women. During this entire evening, while that horrid Banks girl was laughing in her sleeve, you persisted in saying: 'I reckon instead of 'I fancy.' Alger, I feel obliged to say farewell forever," and the fair maiden would have wept had it not been for the violet powder on her face. And so another tender tie was rudely broken.

Buttons vs. Laced Boots.

The woman who has an ugly foot and who wishes to conceal such defect should invariably wear a boot that is laced rather than a buttoned one. The boot that laces is also recommended to those who have tender feet, as it may be made to fit each day, the elasticity of the laces being vastly superior to the stiffness of the buttoned article. Many women knowing this are in the habit of buying them, but a frank and honest salesman confesses to the fact that women who have outgrown their girlish slenderness—to put it mildly—always purchase laced boots. He says: "We always try to persuade a stout woman to wear them home, because if they are sent home she will find it so difficult to lace them up that nine times out of ten she will send them back rather than endure the discomfort. This, of course, she may not do if she has worn them out of the shop."

"Waiter," said the smart young man, pushing his plate away from him, "you may bring me a glass of aquapura to wind up with." The waiter, who had romped on Boston Common in the gullest days of his boyhood, brought a glass of water to the smart young man and changed the figures on his check from thirty-five to sixty. "Dear Mr. Hicks," he wrote, "I am sorry that what you ask I can not grant. I can not become your wife. Yours sincerely, Ethel Barrows." Then she added: "P. S.—On second thoughts, dear George, I think I will marry you. Do come up to-morrow night and see your own true Ethel."

Another Golden Opportunity.

Reno is the birth-place of one of the most successful and far-famed proprietary medicines that the world has ever known, which has not only made its promoters famous, but rich as well. Another remedy of equal or superior merits, and destined to attain proportionate success and fame, claims Reno for its home. To secure the speedy realization of this, the confidence and co-operation of our citizens is all that is needed. The stock-books of the California Cephaline Company are now open at Pinner's drug store and contain the names of some Nevada's most influential citizens and business men. Parties wishing to subscribe for stock should do so at once by applying to the Secretary, or to Rev. J. W. Pendleton, President.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Sore Throat Syrup should always be used for children's ailments. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which cause burns and scalds.

For use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Lintment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

JOTTINGS.

You should not wait for a snow storm before ordering a quantity of J. F. Allen's dry limb or split wood.

Those looking for something of real value for a holiday present should not fail to examine Richard Herz's stock and prices.

The reputation of the Arcade Hotel and Restaurant under the management of W. T. Craig continues to be fully sustained.

Don't wait until the last minute before securing some of those beautiful, holiday pretty things at C. A. Thurston's new department.

No one ever hears a Riverside Hotel boarder complain of indigestion, for the food at that popular resort is the best and is always well cooked and served.

By taking your Chicago saloon, you save time, money and that ten-cent shine which made your old shoes look as good as new.

C. J. Brookins never had his store in as good shape for a display of his beautiful holiday goods as at present, and he has put down prices until all can afford to buy.

E. C. Leadbetter's Commercial Row store is where you will find both "our taste" and "our taste" and all the choicest brands of coffee and tea, and both fresh and salt water fish.

"Is this the best?" Is the question often asked, when medicine is wanted. The following are a few of the medicines of known reliability, sold by Shoemaker & Co., druggist of this place. They have many other excellent medicines, but these are worthy of special mention:

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of severe colds, and as a preventative for croup. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm, a general family liniment and especially valuable for rheumatism. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, the most reliable known medicine for bowel complaints. It is especially prized by persons subject to colic. It has cured many cases of chronic diarrhoea. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

St. Patrick's Pills, or disorders of the liver and bowels, and a vigorous but gentle physic that cleanses and renovates the whole system. Price 25 cents per box.

Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. For tetter, salt rheum, scald-head, eczema and chronic sore eyes. Price 25 cents.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose; she continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself cured and well as ever. Her own housework and is as well as ever was—free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at W. F. Pinner's Drug Store, large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

The question has been asked, "In what respect are St. Patrick's Pills better than any other?" Try them. You will find that they produce a pleasant cathartic effect, are more certain in their action, and that they not only physic but cleanse the whole system and regulate the liver and bowels. For sale at 25 cents per box by Shoemaker & Co.

Happy Hostesses.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaho, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from (kidney and liver trouble)." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find the Electric Bitter to be the best liver and kidney medicine, more so than any other. It regulates the bowels, purifies and enriches the blood and makes the skin clear. They also produce a good appetite, and invigorate and strengthen the entire system by their tonic action. Sold at 25 cents a box by S. J. Hodgkinson."

Indignant?

Yes indeed, to see you parading the streets. I thought you had such a dreadful headache. I did mother, but that dose of Cephaline cured it instantly. All druggists sell it.

A Great Liver Medicine.

Dr. Gun's Improved Liver Pills are a sure cure for sick headache, bilious complaints, dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, torpid liver, etc. These pills insure perfect digestion, correct the liver and stomach, regulate the bowels, purify and enrich the blood and make the skin clear. They also produce a good appetite, and invigorate and strengthen the entire system by their tonic action. Sold at 25 cents a box by S. J. Hodgkinson.

From the Sublime.

To the ridiculous is but a step, according to Schiller, and from misery to happiness is but a jump if you use Cephaline for headache. All druggists handle it.

Buckley's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or you may require. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For Wm. Finner's Drug Store.

You will have no use for specialties if you use Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve. It removes the film and scum which accumulate on the eye balls, subdues inflammation, cures and soothes the irritated nerves, strengthens weak and failing sight. 25 cents a box.

A NEW K. OF P. LODGE.

And an Elegant Entertainment at Wadsworth.

WADSWORTH, Dec. 15, 1930.

ENTRANCE GAZETTE: The grand ball and banquet given by the Knights of Pythias of Pyramid Lodge at Wadsworth to their visiting brother Knights, wives and daughters, was one of the successes of the season. Promptly at 9 o'clock the grand march was struck up by Reno's best band. The hall was handsomely decorated, and great credit is due to the Knights of Wadsworth for the zeal they displayed in preparing a welcome for their friends. "Friendship, Charity and Benevolence" were their mottoes, and with these three grand watchwords success crowned their efforts.

Besides the Knights and their partners there were some complimentary tickets given out and in nearly every case the invitations were accepted, and the hall was full as it could comfortably be, and yet the greater number of Knights were at the lodge initiating the new members into the mysteries of Knighthood, which, to judge from the anxious looks and jumbled looks of the aspirants as they pressed themselves in the ball-room to snatch a waltz or schottische with their fair partners, must at least have had a stirring influence on them.

Promptly at 11 o'clock all Knights and ladies repaired to the large dining hall of the Nevada House, where a banquet fit for a Prince was served them, and it is needless to add that the goodies provided for them were fully appreciated, and all extend thanks to the fair hostess, Mrs. Lennon, who, although an invalid, takes such an interest in the pleasure of her guests and spares no pains to see that their cup of enjoyment is full to overflowing. Thanks again to the genial hosts Messrs. Donaldson & Babcock for the kindness and courtesy extended to their guests. The banquet was followed by toasts, proposed by Grand Master Pike, "The Knights of Pythias," and responded to by Judge Currier in an able and eloquent manner. "The Wives and Children of Knights," responded to by Mr. Bray in a very pleasant and agreeable way. "Pyramid Lodge," responded to by our honored pastor Mr. Henry in his usual fascinating manner of disposing of questions of religion as at State.

The dance continued until 4:30 a. m. Saturday morning, when all went home expressing themselves as fully satisfied with the entertainment and thanking the Knights for the kind hospitality and the interest they took in trying to make the evening as full of pleasure as possible. We earnestly hope that their Lodge may grow and prosper and that their Knights, like those of old, be always above reproach.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY.

The Carson "Appeal" Advice to Mr. Evans. The Carson Appeal contains the following: Alvaro Evans has started a soap factory in Reno. Mr. Evans is a man of great enterprise, but we fear the success of his soap factory. The people of Nevada hate like the deuce to buy anything that is made in Nevada. He should go to California, make his soap there, hire California people, and then ship it to Reno, where by charging his patrons the extra freight he would find a ready sale.

This is our advice to him, but to show that the Appeal does not wish to throw cold water on a Nevada industry, we will advertise Mr. Evans' soap factory free for six months as soon as he starts up.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Humboldt County Man Run Over and Killed. The Winnemucca Silver State of the 15th inst. says: A dispatch from Mill City to Sheriff Fellows last evening, announcing that John Nelson, Sr., of Dun Glen, was run over and killed yesterday, and requested that he notify Coroner Walker of the fact. No particulars of the sad affair were given, and this morning it is not known how the accident occurred. Mr. Nelson was an old and respected citizen of Dun Glen in this county, and the father of a large family of children, some of whom are married. His brother, Vance M. Nelson, is engaged in mining at Unionville. He was a native of Ohio, and resided in Dun Glen, where he was engaged in farming and mining, for many years.

The Bishop's School for Girls. The patrons and friends of the school are cordially invited to attend the closing exercises of the advent term on Thursday and Friday afternoons. On Thursday afternoon, beginning at 1:30, Mrs. Mills will give a public session of her Kindergarten class. On Friday afternoon in the gymnasium, beginning promptly at 2 o'clock, will be held a public session of the regular exercises in composition and recitation, the usual program being varied by the addition of music. JULIA MEQUETER, Principal.

Needed Midwinters.

It is to be regretted that the property holders on at least one side of Center street, which leads to the University, cannot be induced to place plank sidewalks in front of their property, thereby enabling the students of the institution to go back and forth without being compelled to "wade" nearly the whole distance. Charles Coleman informs a GAZETTE reporter that the fifty-four feet of inch and a quarter plank walk in front of his residence on the above street cost less than $6.

Symptoms of Consumption.

WILLIAM J. SHARPLES, PORT ORAM MORRIS CO., N. J. Writes: "My business is that of sharp-shooting mine drills and I am much exposed to smoke and gas. About three years ago I began to have a bad cough, with considerable indigestion and pain in my chest. My physician told me I had symptoms of consumption. By the advice of my father, an old friend of BRANDEGE'S PILLS, I commenced using that valuable remedy. By the time I had got through the second box I began to feel a very disagreeable humor or pus. I began to improve very rapidly after this, and grew stronger and better every day. My cough is now well. I sleep well at night and have no more indigestion."

PARISH HUNG.

He Dies Protesting His Innocence, But Claims To Have Killed Three Men.

The White Pine News contains the following account of the hanging of Hank Parish at Ely on Friday last: Hank Parish, for the murder of A. G. Thompson at Royal City last July, was hung in front of the jail yesterday at noon. The death warrant was read by Sheriff Bassett in the jail, and at two minutes to 12 o'clock the solemn procession wended its way from the jail to the scaffold, Parish ascending the steps without the least apparent fear. There were quite a number of spectators within the inclosure, and Parish stepped to the front railing and addressed them. He said:

"I have been charged with a great many crimes; I killed three men, and I was right in doing it. The last man I killed (Thompson), he assisted in stringing me up three times. The way I have a wife and family that I have not treated right. My wife has been dead thirteen years; I have two children in Oregon, well fixed. I am an ignorant man, have always been persecuted, and am innocent of crime. All this will appear in Mr. Murphy's book of my life, and I want you to believe it."

These words were spoken calmly and with ordinary coolness. He made no reference whatever to the Unknown Realm into which he was about to be launched, nor expressed any regret for anything he had done.

He then stepped back on the trap door, shook hands with the Sheriff and his attendants, the black cap was pulled over his head, the rope adjusted about his neck—and the News reporter hurriedly walked into the Court House to prevent witnessing the final act in the drama of life and death. Sheriff Bassett sprang the trap; the fall was a little over six feet, and the doomed man's neck was broken. There was not a move or a quiver of the body, and as soon as Dr. Campbell could get to feel the pulse he pronounced life extinct. The whole time occupied in the execution was but 12 minutes. Parish went on the scaffold at 12 minutes to 12 and was cut down at 10 minutes past 12.

Dr. Campbell examined his pulse before he left the jail. It was beating at 98. When the black cap was pulled over his head it was up to 42. That Parish was a bad man, and met the fate he deserved, is the general sentiment of this community.

BREVITIES.

Local and General Intelligence. The mails are now overburdened with money orders and Christmas boxes.

Gratifying to All.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known, illustrate the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundant proof gratifying to the Cal. Fig Syrup Company.

The Place to Buy.

The Great Spring Medicine—The Blood is the Life.

GENTLEMEN: I have been troubled with bad blood for some years, but recently purchased two bottles of Hilbard's Rheumatic Syrup, which has entirely cured me. As a blood purifier it has no equal, and I also take pleasure in recommending it as a tonic, alternative, and reliable rheumatic remedy. Very truly yours,

S. E. FERGUSON, Eaton Rapids, Mich. This is to certify that we know Mr. Ferguson, and believe the statement made by him to be true. We unhesitatingly recommend this remedy as we believe it to be the greatest family medicine on earth.

RENO HIGH SCHOOL.

A Good Program—Eight Graduates—A Social Hop.

On Friday of this week at 1:30 p. m. the commencement exercises of the graduating class of the Reno High School will be held at McKinnick's Opera House. A class of eight—six young ladies and two young men—having completed the prescribed course, passed the required examinations and reached the required standard, will commemorate the occasion with the usual fitting ceremonies. In the evening of the same day the pupils of the High School purpose giving an entertainment at the Pavilion, the object being threefold: the primary one, to raise funds to complete the payment on the piano which is in daily use in the school room; the next, to celebrate the entrance of the graduates on the broad field of life; and last, but far from least, with the hope of giving an evening of interest and pleasure to our citizens, all of whom are more or less concerned in the welfare of the schools. With the view to pleasing all tastes, a varied program has been arranged, after the rendering of which, all who wish to do so can indulge in the social dance. The people of Reno have ever shown themselves generous and open-hearted in everything connected with the schools, and it is to be sincerely hoped that this occasion will prove no exception to the rule, but that all will kindly lend a helping hand. The following program has been arranged for the evening:

Opening chorus, "Arms Are Strong and Hearts Are True," School Recitation, "The Frenchman and the Fly," Harry Comstock Song, "Silver Bells," Girls Japanese recitation, "Hatsuyama Instrumental duet, (violin), Recitation, "Day Billy," Fred and Frank Julian Dialogue, "The Census Taker," Mrs. Norton, Katie Mapey Samanthia, Mabel Stanaway Bill, Jarvis Smith Neighbor, Joe Bill, Joe Bill, Vocal solo, "Day Dreams," Miss Grace E. Watson Recitation, "King the Bell," School Closing chorus, "Ring the Bell," School Doors open at 7 p. m. Exercises to begin at 7:30. Admission, 50 cents.

A Little Chilly.

The electric light does not throw out heat enough these cold nights to keep the large crowds warm who nightly visit Fourth and Chesnut streets, to see the "woman in black." They should build a bon fire.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

A City Lady Who Required Proof Before Believing.

There recently appeared in the San Francisco Call, Chronicle, and Examiner, a proposition hitherto unheard of. It was an advertisement in which the Edwin W. Joy Company, in proof of the curative properties of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, offered to submit it to the terrific test of "no cure no pay." Many accepted, and their experiences are so convincing as to be almost beyond belief. Here is another, written under date January 6, 1930:

"Dear Sirs: I accepted your offer to test the merits of your vegetable remedy in sick headaches, and called for a bottle and got it. I had been troubled for a long time, and had tried nearly everything, with little or no effect; but Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla acted almost like magic, and the first bottle relieved me from one of the worst cases of sick headache one ever had."

WILLIAM M. B. PRICE, 18 Prospect Place, San Francisco. We will from time to time publish others of these letters. It is doubtful if any remedy was ever before submitted to such a severe test.

Dyspepsia

Makes many lives miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sick headache, heartburn, sour stomach, mental depression, etc., are caused by this very common and increasing disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla tones the stomach, creates an appetite, promotes digestion, relieves headache, clears the mind, and cures dyspepsia.

In a Terrible Condition. "I owe my life to Hood's Sarsaparilla. For two years I was in a terrible condition with dyspepsia. I could eat nothing but soda crackers, and my weight fell from 170 to 128 pounds. Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me at once, and after using 12 bottles I was entirely cured. I have gained my usual weight, 170 pounds, and have had excellent health ever since." T. J. WILCOX, 20-26 1st South Street, Salt Lake City Utah.

Headache—Hot Flashes. "I had headache, hot flashes, soreness and swelling across my body, pain in my right side, with frequent vomiting. I used Hood's Sarsaparilla with the best results. I am in better health than for four years. Hood's Sarsaparilla is safe, reliable, and sure." J. C. WILLIAMS, Auburn, Cal.

SHE WON HER CASE.

An Independent Bridget Who Sued for Breach of Promise.

There was a queer, shrewd Irish girl, who was engaged to a certain well-to-do youth, says the Boston Transcript. His father had thriftily got some property together, which the son would inherit. The youth knew very little; he had lost one eye, and as Bridget said, he was emphatically "not much to look at," but his "expetastibns" made him attractive. Presently Bridget was in great distress. She came to her employer, who happened to be a lawyer, in a raging state of mind. The young man had jilted her, and she was going to sue him for breach of promise!

Her account of the matter was a curious mixture of humor, indignation, and gruffness. She would sue him for damages, but it was plain that her object was to force him to marry her. "Sure," said she, "an' why mightn't I have the money as well as the sisters and cousins at wud?" "Would you marry him now?" asked her employer. "Sure, an' that I wud! Ain't he as nice a little spalpeen as ye'd seen in a day's runnin'?"

The employer tried to ascertain whether the boy had any pretext for jilting her. What had she done to offend him? Bridget lowered her voice confidentially. "I think," she said, "that it's all about a bit of conversation that we had. 'Sure, now, Bridget,' said he to me one night, as we sat in the kitchen, 'wud ye marry me if I had no money?' 'What do ye take me for?' says I. 'Sure' and I wudden then. There's nobody wud marry the likes of ye but for the money ye have!' An' wud that, sorr, he said up sudden like an' he wint away. 'Twas the thrut' I told him, but sure he's a fine little lad, sorr, an' I'd marry him the day, I'm that fond of him—wid the money!"

Her lawyer was convinced that Bridget had a good case, and advised her to bring suit. She did so, and her examination in court was a scene long to be remembered. With one breath she scorched the defendant and with the next she praised and cajoled him.

"Sure, he's not a beauty," she admitted to the court, "he's only the one eye, but it's awful becomin' to him, yer honor."

Bridget won her case; the youth, relenting before such tact, changed his character of defendant for that of bridegroom, and all the "sisters and cousins" came to the wedding.

RICH MEN'S MASCOTS.

They Represent Many Things from a Copper Cent to a Steam Tug.

Erasmus Wiman believes that there is luck in keeping a Newfoundland dog around the house.

Cyrus W. Field has a piece of the first cable laid between America and Europe. To Mr. Field it is invaluable. Pierre Lorillard is a firm believer in the efficacy of the horseshoe. There are a dozen or more rusty horseshoes around his establishment.

Henry Villard cherishes with studious care the golden spike with which the last rail that marked the completion of the Northern Pacific railroad was finished.

Jay Gould has a mascot. He has clung to it for seventeen years. It is a pedwiper made of blue velvet. It is always upon Mr. Gould's desk and he locks it in a special compartment when he leaves the office.

A conspicuous object in the office of Russell Sage is an ancient $1 bill in a glass frame. Mr. Sage proudly informs his friends who gaze at it curiously that it is his lucky dollar, the first dollar he ever made.

Washington E. Connor carries an old copper cent of the coinage of 1831. When he plays cribbage or billiards he pulls the ancient coin out and looks at it. He generally wins after going through that performance.

John H. Starin has a mammoth mascot. It is the tug William H. Vanderbilt, one of the largest and handsomest boats of its kind in the world. Mr. Starin believes there is luck in having a boat named after Mr. Vanderbilt.

George Gould carries his mascot in a locket which dangles from his watch chain. It is a miniature painting in oil of his charming wife, nee Miss Edith Kingston. Young Mr. Gould has a strong belief in its power to ward off danger.

STARTING LIFE ANEW

How One Man Lost a Wife and a Little Tot to His Mother.

I was at the depot in Louisville, standing in the doorway of the ladies' waiting-room, when, writes a Detroit Free Press correspondent, a stranger beckoned me out and said:

"I want you to do me a favor. See if there is a woman about four years old in there, wearing a black silk dress, a brown wrap and a hat with two white feathers in it."

I sauntered in and looked around, and returned and reported her there.

"Anybody with her?" he asked. "Yes; a man and a little child."

His face was pale and betrayed great emotion, and his voice had a queer sound to it as he considered for a moment and then said:

"Take this pistol. I am her husband, and she has eloped. I was going to kill the man at first, but I have thought better of it."

He entered the room, and the guilty pair rose up and turned, pale as he approached. He did not look at either of them, but walked straight up to the child, took her in his arms, and went out saying:

"We haven't any home now, darling, but we will go away somewhere and make one."

"Come, mamma!" called the child. "Hush!" he whispered. "You have no mother. She died two days ago!"

A Useful Combination. One-third information, one-third will and one-third energy will accomplish much more than all knowledge, without the will and energy to put it in practice. So despise not the brother of limited information if he has the will and energy to put in practice what he knows. The sum of his results will astonish you in coming years.

The Euphone. A mechanical genius has invented an instrument which he calls the euphone, by which he claims that all sounds can be heard and located on the darkest night and in the thickest weather.

A Bashful Youth Helped Out by a Bird That Spoke Up.

"A parrot is usually regarded, I know, as a very mischievous, meddling bird, and all the stories are of their interference and trouble making, but I have always believed that I owe my life's happiness to one of them," remarked Mr. M. C.—a day or two ago to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat's Attica (N. Y.) correspondent. The story being entreated, Mr. C.—continued:

"I was the most bashful youth you ever saw, the very shyest imaginable, especially where ladies were concerned. I was fond of their society, enjoying it so that I sought it as often as I could, and yet at the same time in a perfect agony of bashfulness if required to answer the simplest question, or to express an opinion on any subject, while to be asked to button a glove or any such little service would throw me into such a state of nervous excitement that I usually ended in making an awkward dunc of myself. I visited at one house where the girls, or, rather, two of them, romping, high-spirited misses, took the keenest delight in playing upon this bashfulness of mine, but secretly adoring the other sister—the eldest—I bore this patiently, for, while she could not always refrain from laughing at her sister's pranks, and the confusion they threw me into, she herself never teased me."

"But to get to Miss Polly. She was a green bird with a yellow head and a wicked eye and a habit of walking in the flower garden, where in a little summer house fitted up as a parlor the girls were fond of entertaining their company during the pleasant months. This was sitting one day on a trellis near by, when in a state of the greatest excitement I came to this summer parlor, and meeting a servant, sent Miss Nellie word to please meet me there. I had heard that a rival had appeared on the scene and that it was thought that the girl I had loved so long in silence was favoring the new-comer, but I had made up my mind to find out the truth of the report by speaking at last in my own case. I had fully determined in doing this, which seemed an easy task, till I caught sight of her sweet face as she advanced toward me; then my courage fled, and in abject terror I waited for her. I stammered out some foolish speech intended for an apology and at last, looking at her, dismayed to see how unusually quiet and depressed she seemed, while Polly, walking up and down the trellis, watched us both suspiciously. At last, just as I decided to put it off, as I had decided a hundred times before, that parrot paused in her strutting, and, leaning over, urged: 'Kiss her! kiss her, quick! you goose!' My heart stopped beating and I scarcely dared steal a glance at Miss Nellie, but when I did she was blushing so divinely, her lips were so tempting and, well, there was a look in her eyes that told me a delicious secret; so, with sudden courage, I leaned forward and with a 'May I, Nell?' followed Polly's sage advice."

"Yes, my wife's name is Nellie, and Polly, now gone the way of all flesh, now stands upon our mantel, beautifully stuffed and prized most highly. In all probability I would have allowed the treasure I coveted to slip through my fingers had she not helped me out, for my wife has since told me she had just decided it was lost time to continue to love a man so bashful that he would not take his own, and that she would try and like the other fellow."

A GOLDEN CHANCE.

How a Western Highwayman Was Chastised Out of His Mead.

We had got through to Silver City by stage without adventure, writes a New York Sun correspondent, and perhaps I had more reason than any other passenger to felicitate myself on the fact, as I was carrying $8,000 in greenbacks for a friend who was going into business. The day after arriving a strange man came to the office and asked if he could have a few minutes' private conversation. He looked like a prospector or silver finder, and I took him into the inner office, where he quietly sat down and began:

"I am no hand to beat around the bush, but believe in coming straight to the point."

"Well, you brought $8,000 with you yesterday."

"Suppose I did?"

"I knew you were coming, and for three days I was posted to intercept you. I intended to hold up your stage and take every thing."

"Why didn't you do it?"

"That's what I'm coming to. My infernal burro stumbled with me at a bad place and pitched me off, and for a whole day I hardly moved a rod. I'm so sore and lame now that I can scarcely get about."

"Well?"

"The kernel of this thing is just here. You were my meat, fair and square. Them $8,000 was as good as in my own pocket. Owing to circumstances beyond my control you lost through it. It was a stroke of luck. I lost my animal and both my revolvers, and am hurt besides. Are you honorable enough to give me a per cent. on that money to go into business again?"

He wanted 3 per cent., but I finally got off with $30, and he bought a revolver and some blankets with it and went off and stopped a stage and was shot through the head.

Iron Collars for Horses. Now and then a horse wearing an iron collar is seen in the streets of Philadelphia, but such collars are still a rarity. Their use in England has become quite general, however, for horses doing heavy work—such as omnibus and brewery horses. The collars are not heavy, the lightest weighing only seven pounds.

had lost her sheep and couldn't tell where to find them." So the old nursery rhyme says, and it goes on to bid her "Leave them alone and they'll come home and bring their tails behind them." All this may be true of lost sheep, but if you have lost your health you cannot afford to leave that alone. It will not come back of its own accord. Some people brag that they never bother about colds. They "let them go the way they came." Alas! too often the victims go—to a consumptive's grave. Until very recently a cure for Consumption, which is universally acknowledged to be a scourge affecting the lungs, would have been looked upon as miraculous, but now people are beginning to realize that the disease is not incurable. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure it if taken in time and given a fair trial. This world-renowned remedy will not make new lungs, but it will restore blood—cleanse and nutritive, or flesh builder known to medical science. For lingering Coughs, Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, "Liver Complaint" and Dyspepsia or Indigestion, it is an unequalled remedy.
